

Legal Information

GABA constantly checks and updates the information on its websites. Despite all due care, the data may have changed since the last check. We are therefore unable to accept any liability or provide any warranty for the currentness, correctness and completeness of the information provided. The same applies to all other websites to which links are provided. GABA is not responsible for the content of linked websites. Furthermore, GABA reserves the right to make changes or additions to the information provided at any time. The content and structure of the GABA websites are copyrighted. Information or data may not be reproduced or otherwise used without the prior consent of GABA. All brand names referred to are protected by law.